

Say Hello to Keenon, The Mascot of Baltonburgh!

Keenon is a blend of fiction and reality and was born on October 2, 2000, when Baltonburgh's public relations practitioners needed something to build community background. It was from this energy that the mascots were created. Baltonburgh is a community-oriented city and grows with its society.

The mascot is a stuffed Liger, which is a tiger mixed with a lion. It symbolizes fiery strength and will. Tigers are the largest felines in the world. Many cultures consider the tiger to be a symbol of strength and courage. However, because hunting them is also a sign of bravery in some cultures, tigers are endangered; no more than 3,200 tigers are left in the wild. Lions, on the other hand, are very social animals. They are very powerful but chose to share their power with their pride. With this being said, Baltonburgh chose this hybrid animal to be its mascot because it holds strength and power within its roots. Not many cities are like Baltonburgh and there aren't many animals like Liger.

Keenon lives his life by playing, jumping, running and smiling. He can stretch and stretch his self, as much as it wants. As a mixture of two strong animals, it can also do the same things they can, like run faster, jump high, and be as powerful as them. Kennon is also fluent in all languages, so he can be super communicative with all that reside in the city of Baltonburgh and the visitors.

The Baltonburgh mascot Keenon is a fashionable animal. He believes in dressing for the job wanted and not for the one received. He enjoys creating art, listening to music, watch movies, laughs with friends, and eat good food. These are what keep Kennon busy, but his favorite pastime is making new friends. Although Baltonburgh is the only city in the United States that has a mascot, besides Pennsylandgin which is also in Virlandia. His best friend is Shrek the Unshearable Sheep from the city of Pennsylandgin. He lives in a tree-house, in the Balthonburgh Forest, from where he can see the whole city and plan animal adventures with friends. This mascot's mission is to spread joy throughout the city and celebrate the friendship that flourishes between people from all over the city at all celebratory events.

The Pennsylandgin mascot is unique. It is able to pull crazy objects out of his head of leaves in order to get out of any jam. He knows all the secrets of nature and understands that with creativity, intelligence and determination, the city can achieve whatever goal wanted of accomplishments. He plays a variety of different sports and listens to all kinds of Hip-Hop music. His mission is to inspire everybody to use creativity, determination, and athleticism to always reach further and have fun.

Both mascots have social medias @KeenonTheBaltonburghLiger and @ShrekTheUnshearableSheepOfPennsylandgin. To keep up with them, follow them on all social media platforms including, Instagram, Facebook, Twitter, Snapchat, and Pinterest.
